

Funding Learning – What Curriculum Managers need to know

“A workshop for non-financial people”

DATE:

29th March 2012
9.30am refreshments
10.00am - 4.00pm

VENUE:

ACER, St. Ives

COST per delegate:

£150 ACER members
£185 non-members

Facilitators:

Brian Godbold,
Convenor ACER Finance Network
Richard Allenach,
Harlow College

Workshop aims

- To provide a better understanding of the dynamic link between funding and delivering quality training to students
- To give a financial background to, and update on, the financial environment of the sector and individual colleges
- To take delegates through the basic principles underpinning in-year financial management information that supports effective planning and decision making

Who should attend?

- Heads of schools
- Heads of Curriculum
- Heads of Department
- Staff who manage curriculum teams and areas

Having attended the workshop a delegate should be able to better understand the dynamic link between delivering quality training to students and their college's core funding

Topics include

- Setting the Scene: Current Financial and Funding Pressures
- The dynamic relationship between the current funding methodology, the cost base of colleges and the funding being generated (in-year and longer term)
- Overview of the Key Financial Reports Produced During the Year
- Understanding the Key In-year Financial Management Information
- What will you change this year and next?
- The Year after Next: Strategic update on proposed funding changes from 2013/14

To book your place at this event, please complete a booking form and return it to christine.stewart@acer.ac.uk. For more information about the event, contact Christine on 01480 468198 or visit our website - www.acer.ac.uk.